SPEAKS OF 1TS GROWTH

Many Fine Modern Homes Have Been Erected Lately.

Postmaster Perdue Quits After Nine Years, Service.

Belolt, Kan., Aug. 20,-"Going back home," this is the answer that comes from everybody who formerly lived in Beloit, who have moved elsewhere, but are on their way back to pay the old writer of these Beloit Items. For 14 years he lived here, among as pleasant and entertaining people as can be Walla found, and in as progressive, enterprising town as there are in north central Kansas. He still keeps his dues paid in two secret orders in Beloit, although having moved away upwards of eight years ago. It is good to go back home, to Helolt, often, for every visit here he sees new improvements, and hears good things said about the place. In eight years Beloit has made wonderful advancement in growth and population. A daily paper exists, the Call, and with the eight free rural delivery routes has gained a wonderful circulation; mod-ern residences were then few where they are numbered by the dozens now; they are numbered by the dozens now; not an automobile then, there are two dozen or more now; the always excellent school service has grown almost double in population and school room; the old shack used for a court house then has been succeeded with a modern one at a cost of about $50,000, Elmwood cemetery has increased her population to an alarming extent in eight years; since then the Catholics have completed and pald for one of the largest cathedrals in north central Kansas, and many dilapidated structures built in ploneer days have been torn down to make room for beautiful homes and brick and stone business houses.

pald 217. The total money order business including fees amounted to $5,371.71. The total number of pleces handled in the same month by the eight rural free deliveries was $0.168, and the stamps sold was $112.22. Besides there is the Victor Star box and delivery route, which starts from Beloit, and handled 4,120 pieces. The Beloit postoffice isn't a playhouse, and with H. Jermark the postmaster and his hard working force of assistants, all are kept busy and doing all they can to please the patrons. There are many Beloit people who wish they were like "Scotty" Waterson—can take the world as easy as does "Scotty." He knows every man, woman brick and stone business houses.

And Beloit has kept growing all these years. There are three mammoth commission and poultry, egg and produce plants, three solld banks, three news-papers, one of the largest and most successful milling plants in north central Kansas, waterworks, electric lights fine system of telephone, miles of cement and stone sidewalks, the site of state industrial school for girls, are rumors of the erection of a new opera house in Beloit. These rumors come along about as often as do those of half a dozen or more churches, ample school room and successful schools as can be found in any town, and dozens of prosperous business firms.

In the removal of Rev. and Mrs. F. D. Baker from Beloit to Salina, the loss this city sustains will be Salina's gain. Our people feel that it will only be temporary. Mr. Baker is presiding elder of the Beloit district M. E. church, and Mrs. Baker has been elected church, and Mrs. Baker has been elected preceptress of the girls' domitory of the Kansas Wesleyan university located in Salina, a position she is qualified to hold, and a work she has qualified to hold, and a work she has to-date as any hotel in the state. What is the future of the Beloit Chautauqua? At the close of the one recently held here the following directors were elected: J. C. Postlethwaite, E. L. Getty, T. J. H. Taggart, W. L. Cannon, J. W. Bates, C. W. Snyder, A. S. Cooke, S. H. Dodge, B. F. Bracken, H. A. Phelps, J. D. VanHook, A.

It would look from the list of new directors chosen that if the Beloit Chautauqua is to be continued a new policy will be adopted. The directors will meet at an early date when the matter will be finally settled. W. C. Perdue served the Beloit post-office patrons for nine consecutive years in the capacity as the most obliging palastaking, accommodating postmaster the town ever had. In fact he was in the capacity as the most obliging palastaking, accommodating postmaster the town ever had. In fact he was contracted in the postoffice department required. In the final settlement and checkins up the business of the late postmaster, the department finds that they owe Chan. Perdue the sum of one cent, which if promptly paid. The expostmaster proposes to have it made into a watch charm without destroying the face of the penny. On account of the Beloit postoffice being a political cone, other friends had to be rewarded, and Mr. Perdue was succeeded by H. Jermark, who retained the outgoing postmaster and made him assistant postmaster.

The old hotel which has been doing so good service for more than 25 Stillwell might be induced to reconsider his action, and declined to try the plan. Judge Stillwell sent in his resignation without consulting any of his friends, and some of them have been hammering him pretty hard since he did so. But Judge Stillwell is a man who is not inclined to take hasty action in such matters, and he has doubtless thought the matter over carefully before sending in the resignation. Therefore it is not likely that there will be any change in his attitude."

The following letter to Judge Stillwell was sent Monday afternoon from Gover-nor Hoch's office, but no reply has yet n received: on. L. Stillwell, Eric, Kansas. Rock Island Wants to Charge More for Representatives of the Continental creamery of Topeka were present to resist the application.

The action of the Rock Island and Frisco is in line with the action of the railroad and express companies in Nebraska, South Dakota, and other leading dairy states, where similar applications to increase rates are pending. It is expected that the other railroads and the express companies doing business in Kansas will ask permission to increase rates provided the board allows the Rock Island and Frisco to defect.

CHANNEL TOO WIDE.

Charles Blood Smith Reports on Kaw River Case.

Kansas City, Aug. 20.—The report of Charles Blood Smith, special master in the suits brought by the stock yards and railway companies against the Kaw valley drainage board to enjoin the issuing of bonds for the improvement of the Kaw river, has been made. Mr. Smith finds that the proposed 734 foot channel is unreasonably wide and on channel is unreasonably wide and on that ground recommends the injunction be granted. He finds for the drainage that ground recommends the injunction be granted. He finds for the drainage board on almost every other point.

Copies of the report were received by Keplinger & Trickett, attorneys for the drainage board, yesterday and were read at the meeting of the board last night. The board and the corporations have until next Monday to file exceptions to the findings, after which the report will be presented to Judge John C. Pollock of the Kansas federal court.

Fine Point of Law.

Judge Smith holds that the 734 foot waterway is "unreasonable" because such a width was only proposed between the Fifth street bridge and the mouth of the river and not through the entire drainage district to Turner, Kan. The objection is made because in the future any attempt to widen the river above the Fifth street bridge might be defeated as this district is more thinly populated than that in which the channel was to be established. The report nel was to be established. The report says that the testimony in the case showed that the river from the Fifth street bridge to the mouth was for-merly much wider than it is now, but it did not show how much wider it was. A fine point of law is brought up in that part of the report which holds that the drainage board cannot condemn the land occupied by the tracks of the Kansas City Southern railroad. Judge Smith cays that the board has power to condemn land "across" the right of way of a railroad but not longitudinally or along the right of way of a railroad as was to be done in this case When the Bonds Were Voted.

Two years ago the people of the drainage district voted two bond issues, one of $200,000 to remove obstructions from the Kaw river and one of $325,000 to

MILLER A HAPPY MAN.

Going to Get Railroad and His Seat in Congress by Default,

Congressman J. M. Miller of the Fourth district, one of the directors of the Topeka Southwestern railway, arrived in Topeka Monday, and made a trip over the route of the permanent survey which is being made for the railroad out of Topeka. He said this morning:

Mr. Miller stated that he had not heard any talk about possible candidates for the governorship, nor about the Hornaday plan for a direct pri-

"I have not been talking politics," he said. "I have traveled about the district a good deal making speeches at various meetings, but have paid very little attention to politics. We are going to have a big reunion of old soldiers at our town on September 5, 6, 7 and 8, with speeches by Congress-man Calderhead. Senator Long. Homer Hoch, and numerous other prominent men. We invited Senator Foraker of Ohio to attend but he was unable to do so."
